NATIONAL SCHOOL LUNCH PROGRAM

SURVEY OF FOODS PURCHASED FOR SCHOOL LUNCH PROGRAMS

The National School Lunch Program has, over the 10 years of its operation under the National School Lunch Act, grown to stature as an important factor in agricultural marketing. To gain more information about the market made by the program, the Food Distribution Division is conducting a series of studies of food expenditures by schools.

The several studies, when all are completed, will be brought together in booklet form to present the information to all who are interested. However, copies of the studies are being presented, as each is completed, in this preliminary form for review by persons particularly interested in them.

The attached report is one of these preliminary copies.

PURCHASES OF FOOD COMMODITIES MADE BY CENTRAL OFFICE
SCHOOL LUNCH DIVISION, DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION
COMMONWEALTH OF PUERTO RICO

This report is one of a series to ascertain the kinds, volumes and dollar values of the foods purchased for the preparation of meals at schools in connection with the National School Lunch Program.

During the 1955-56 school year, the Central Office of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico purchased, primarily from United States sources, over 14 million pounds of food for school feeding programs at a cost of almost $2,500,000. An additional 8 to 10 million pounds of food, primarily fresh fruits and vegetables, was purchased locally by the School Superintendents a/ and used to supplement those foods bought by the Central Office. The Department of Agriculture, through its several programs, provided the Puerto Rican school system with over 11.7 million pounds of food valued at $2.8 million.

This food was used in the preparation of 43,360,000 meals which were consumed by a daily average of 241,000 children who obtained their weekday noon meals as part of the School Lunch Program. Virtually all of the meals were provided at no cost to the children.

Menus are uniform for all schools in Puerto Rico and are prepared on the basis of the food commodities available on hand. Fresh fruits and vegetables are purchased locally through the offices of the Superintendent of Schools. A two-months' supply is distributed in July for utilization at the lunchrooms during August and September (first two months of the school year). No distribution is made in August. A one-month's supply is delivered in September for utilization in October and a one-month's supply is delivered every subsequent month until April (last distribution) for utilization in May (last month of the school year). Remaining supplies are recovered from schools and returned to the supplying-warehouse after the close of the school year.

Foods purchased by the Puerto Rican Central Office are shown in Table 1 by food groups, poundage and total cost. In Table 2 are shown the average costs per pound for the food commodities purchased for the school year 1955-56 compared with the average of the prices paid during the four preceding school years.
